

THE COMPANY

Experteer GmbH is an innovative Start Up within the publishing group Georg von Holtzbrinck, one of the leading media companies in Europe.

Providing a premier career service for the high-end job market, we connect leading professionals to their next career move. Experteer has evolved from being a local service to a truly pan-European one with thousands of registered members throughout Europe.

THE POSITION

Due to our fast-growing business, we are looking for a highly motivated Researcher for our Dutch Job research & analysis team, to support our ongoing expansion.

As a Researcher, reporting directly to the Dutch Team Leader, you will be responsible for individual corporate accounts, and will research and analyze vacancies of top businesses across the Netherlands.

No sales involved, this is purely an internet research role, minimum telephone contact.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

Your main responsibilities as a Researcher will involve:

- Assuring a high-level of quality, and a proper classification of all Jobs in the Netherlands
- Proactively researching the Dutch job market
- Building up and maintaining our online database of jobs, targeted at the top 10% of professionals and executives on a regular basis

YOUR SKILLS AND QUALIFICATIONS

Your skills and qualifications as a Researcher will ideally include:

- Being highly motivated and analytical
- An evidenced experience and ability to extract vital information from research
- Precision and accuracy
- Good Dutch language proficiency
- Solid PC skills especially in office- and internet applications

YOU AS AN INDIVIDUAL

We are looking for dynamic individuals who would like to be part of the Experteer family with commercial interest and enthusiasm to develop their CV and career prospects.

Someone who can work independently, but still be a team player. A person with significant judgment as to the authenticity and validity of research results. You will have excellent communication and relationship skills, ensuring an outstanding level of service to your team and to the company.

LOCATION
